EU Taxonomy Reporting 2025: Key Insights and Future Outlook

PwC's study of EU Taxonomy reporting by European financial institutions for 2025 shows minimal progress in eligibility and alignment.

Despite improved data availability, the strategic use of Taxonomy KPIs for investment decisions remains rare, largely due to varying business models. Future improvements may come from new KPIs and regulatory changes. As institutions work towards net zero transitions, Taxonomy data is expected to play a more significant role in developing green financial products and enhancing risk management.
