Video series Securitisation Unlocked: (4) How to get SRT- ready

Welcome to Part 4 of PwC's "Securitisation Unlocked" video series. In Part 4, Martin Neisen, Gabriele Guggiola and Christoph Himmelmann dive into the complexities of SRT (Significant Risk Transfer) Securitisation.

This series explores the role of securitisation in banking, examining current trends, EU Commission reforms, the impact of CRR 3, SRT preparedness, and the rise of NPES.

How to get SRT-ready?

Martin Neisen (Partner, Head of the SSM Office), Gabriele Guggiola (Partner, SSM Workstream Lead Securitisation, PwC Italy), and Christoph Himmelmann (Director, Co-Lead SSM Workstream Securitisation) examine the key requirements, prevailing challenges, and critical success factors for banks undertaking SRT transactions, particularly given the evolving landscape of EU regulations. SRT securitisation provides institutions with effective mechanisms for capital relief and risk management; however, achieving successful outcomes requires diligent planning, adherence to regulatory standards, and robust stakeholder collaboration.

Watch the video for insights into:
